FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Time to call in the professionals: An inspiring interior design and decorating Directory comes to Two Design Lovers.

Australia’s leading second-hand designer furniture marketplace, Two Design Lovers, today launched an exciting new resource for home renovators and decorators. “With customers regularly asking for recommendations, we felt there was a real gap in the market for a beautifully presented, simple to use, curated directory where Australia’s interior designers and suppliers can be found. It’s like a little black book for the home décor enthusiast,” said Deb Achhorne, Director, and cofounder. “With around 70 businesses already listed, we expect to grow the Directory into the go-to resource for finding design and decorating professionals in your area’.

Covering categories such as Interior Designers, Landscape Designers, Stylists & Decorators, Upholsterers & Furniture Restorers, Valuations and even Decluttering services the Directory will help people who are renovating, upsizing, downsizing and everything in between.

The Directory complements the Two Design Lovers marketplace for vintage, eclectic and secondhand designer furniture and will be a fabulous resource for their growing audience when they are looking to engage design professionals.

Background

Two Design Lovers was launched in 2019 by Deb Achhorne and Emilia Harrison who were frustrated and dismayed by the country's growing landfill issue and the continuing trend towards buying poor quality, unethically produced and disposable furniture.

Based on the principle that beautiful design will stand the test of time the partners are hopeful consumers will see an alternative to buying new, mass-produced poor-quality furniture, and instead invest in better made, second-hand designer pieces for a similar price, that can be enjoyed and put to good use, again and again.
