Title: McCabes expands commercial offering with new property group

National law firm McCabes Lawyers has expanded its Commercial division with the appointment of Penny Cable as Principal in the Property group.

Penny brings with her Special Counsel Daniel Murray, Senior Associate Nicholas Sharman, Associate Daniel Weissel and Lawyer Allegra Parker.

McCabes has welcomed Penny and her team into the large boutique as they aim to provide clients with exceptional legal expertise for property law. Penny and her property team strengthen the McCabes Commercial division with their experience and collaborative approach to meet client needs.

On her new role, Penny said, "I am delighted to be a part of this growing organisation. Some of the most important aspects of this new role is the strong vision of the firm, along with the enthusiasm and drive demonstrated by my team."

The appointment of Penny is a significant step in McCabes' growth strategy, being a high priority tactic including the increased cultivation of their strong Property practice. Speaking about Penny's appointment, McCabes Managing Principal Andrew Lacey said that she and her team are "the perfect fit" for the firm.

"Penny has a reputation of talent, professionalism, and efficiency, which is exactly the kind of leader that will take our Property group, and Commercial division at large, to new heights," he said.

"The McCabes Commercial division is dedicated to delivering outstanding results through commercial and excellent legal advice and support. We utilise our combined experience to achieve better outcomes for our clients."

McCabes' Commercial division acts for a wide range of private and public clients across various industries, such as mining services, engineering and manufacturing, transport, education, hospitality and tourism, consumer products, professional services, not-for-profit and religious organisations.

Daniel Murray, special counsel in the Property group said of the move to McCabes, "It has been great to join McCabes. The firm's future-driven vision and supportive culture allows us the opportunity to grow as a team as well as at an individual level.

“Our clients also benefit from having strong complementary practice groups offering a full range of services, should they need a high level of experience and expertise across a range of fields.”

Andrew Lacey also went on to say; “Penny brings great leadership qualities and extensive legal expertise. Penny and her team are a wonderful addition to the firm.

“We don’t grow for growth’s sake. We want to ensure that each practice area and principal appointment is for the very best outcome for our clients and our culture as an organisation.”
