“Agelicious” Skincare for Every Stage of Life from Australia’s House of Dermis

Australia, August 2024 – House of Dermis, the latest innovator in the Australian beauty scene, has launched its highly anticipated 4-in-1 RF Photon Face and Neck Sculptor. This innovative beauty device is already flying off the shelves, transforming at-home skincare routines with professional-level results, all without the need for expensive and time-consuming spa treatments.

Veronica Dunovits, Creative Director of House of Dermis, expressed her enthusiasm about the new product: “At House of Dermis, we’re committed to breaking the barriers between professional spa treatments and your everyday beauty routine. Our new device offers a non-invasive, efficient solution that helps women feel confident and rejuvenated without the hassle and expense of spa treatments.”

The 4-in-1 RF Photon Face and Neck Sculptor is designed to lift, tighten, and sculpt the skin, bringing users a radiant and youthful glow. This state-of-the-art device combines four advanced technologies—RF, EMS, iontophoresis, and LED light therapy—to boost collagen production, enhance skin elasticity, and amplify the effectiveness of existing skincare products. Users can achieve spa-quality results in just 10 minutes with customizable treatments tailored to their individual skin needs.

With beauty clinics charging up to $350 or more for a single sculpting session, the House of Dermis device offers the same professional-level results at a fraction of the cost, making it a smart, long-term investment. When pairing the device with the exclusive HA AquaPlump Intensive Hydration Activating Gel, the results are even more impressive. This Activating Gel is specially formulated to boost the results of the 4-in-1 RF Photon Face and Neck Sculptor. It’s enriched with skin-plumping Hyaluronic Acid, soothing Aloe Vera, and calming Calendula. This luxurious gel not only enhances the function of your skincare device but also doubles as a deeply hydrating face mask.

Early fans of the 4-in-1 RF Photon Face and Neck Sculptor have shared glowing reviews. One delighted customer commented, “This device is a pocket rocket! I’ve seen instant results in my face.” Another user, who was initially sceptical, consulted with her beautician and reported, “My beautician said this tool was definitely worth trying...after only a couple uses, I could actually spot the difference.”

House of Dermis embraces a philosophy they call “Agelicious”, celebrating every stage of life with confidence and positivity. Whether you’re a young glow-getter exploring skincare or a wise silver fox embracing age with grace, the “Agelicious” philosophy ensures you look and feel fabulous.
