

MEDIA RELEASE

Monday 26th September 2022

- Atze's Corner 'Buy Wine, Plant a Tree' Initiative Grows -

Atze's Corner Wines are excited to announce they have partnered with Eden Reforestation Projects to fund their reforestation and poverty alleviation efforts worldwide.

For every single bottle of Atze's wine sold (domestically and internationally), a tree will be planted thanks to this initiative and collaboration between the Barossa Valley winery and the charity organisation.

"Over the years we've tested out our backs and hamstrings planting over 10,000 trees around our properties to help re vegetate the land. Now our customers can enjoy a bottle of wine knowing that they've helped make a tremendous difference on this amazing planet of ours" said Atze's Corner Founder & Vigneron Andrew Kalleske. "With everything our family and team at Atze's do, we are always aware of the environment around us and now our customers can be part of that ethos too!".

Atze's Corner have invested heavily in solar power on their Winery, Cellar Door and farm sheds plus sequester carbon on their farming land with minimal tillage to decrease their carbon footprint. They continue to invest in machinery and equipment which uses less fuel and power which not only helps keep their carbon emissions down but also helps the company's bottom line.

"That's our commitment to a sustainable future for this amazing planet and our new partnership with Eden Reforestation Projects. Not only planting trees but also helping communities survive and thrive in countries like Mozambique where most of the funding will go to" says Andrew. "My sister Julie has done extensive work in that country which we have helped support and that holds a place very close to our hearts".

Atze's Corner Wines is a boutique winery located in the Barossa Valley, South Australia and while their production is only sold at independent retailers, restaurants and bars, they hope that the one tree planted for every single bottle sold initiative will compound to make a big difference in the years to come.

Currently the winery supports many local charities and sporting organisations including the local Nuriootpa Netball and cricket clubs, Africa Miracles, Novita River Run, Shitbox Rally and many more.

You can learn more at www.edenprojects.org to learn how they create jobs, protect ecosystems, and help mitigate climate change.

"We are ecstatic to be partnering with Atze's Corner Wines. The work we have accomplished is due largely in part to our incredible donors who believe in alleviating poverty and restoring healthy forests. With Atze's Corner Wines commitment to Eden Reforestation Projects, local community members are able to heal their ecosystems and take action against climate change."

-Dr. Stephen Fitch, Founder/CEO"

Atze's
CORNER

John Kalleske has planted over 10,000 trees on his property over the last three decades.

Available at Atze's Cellar Door, online <https://atzes.com/> and at good independent liquor stores, restaurants and bars.

<https://www.atzes.com>

-- ENDS --

ATZE'S CORNER:

- The Kalleske family arrived in the Barossa Valley in 1847 and more recently John and Barbara Kalleske purchased land and vineyards near Atze's Corner in 1975 and have been developing vineyards in Ebenezer and Koonunga Hill ever since. The oldest vines on the current estate date back to 1912 on what was the Atze family property.
- In 2005, Andy produced their first batch of 100% Shiraz called Eddies Old Vine. Since then, Atze's Corner now produce wine from their Mataro, Petite Sirah/Durif, Montepulciano, Grenache, Cabernet Sauvignon and Vermentino vineyards.
- In 2017 Atze's Corner was named one of James Halliday's 'Dark Horse of the Year' wineries.

For media enquiries, images and interviews please contact:

Andrew Kalleske e: andy@atzes.com m: 0407 621 989

Isabelle Johns e: isabelle@atzes.com m: 0409 445 823

<https://atzes.com/pages/buy-wine-plant-a-tree>

Atze's
CORNER