US$34,000 in Bonus Prizes for the Relaunch of Supremacy's Battle Arena Game

Perth, 08 September 2022 - The Supremacy Sky High $SUPS event is now live and the Supremacy Battle Arena has relaunched with a $34,000 pool of additional SUPS to win.

The Supremacy Battle Arena went live on Friday afternoon 5pm PST 09-07-22 after a period of in-house and player testing in the 'Proving Grounds', designed to further develop and enhance gameplay. Relaunching with a wide range of new game features and upgrades including Google and Facebook sign in, Free to Play interactions and daily rewards.

To celebrate and reward their community and entice new players into the Battle Arena, Supremacy is providing a large rewards pool that will increase winnings substantially for a limited time.

For the relaunch event:

- A special pool of 2 million $SUPS tokens was created at the beginning of this event, which all winning War Machine bonuses will be drawn from.
- Winnings in the Supremacy Battle Arena will be increased for the duration of this event.
- This Sky High $SUPS event will end when the special event pool has been depleted. There will be a tracker in the game UI displaying the current size of the pool.

Supremacy CEO Alex Dunmow is excited about attracting players into the game, and is thankful for his community's efforts in making sure the game came back on line, and as fun to play as possible.

"We want to thank everyone in our community for their valuable contributions during this proving grounds phase and for providing critical feedback. We have an incredible game to share and have been working extremely hard to make sure our game is super fun to play. We hope that the increase in rewards gets everyone back into the Battle Arena and reminds them that there is still huge value in Web3 games that is not dependent on market cycles. Gameplay comes first, but the potential to win big and gain real-world value can not be overlooked".

Lead Game Designer Morgan White also commented on the benefits that the proving grounds provided. "The proving grounds have been especially useful for gathering community response to a number of new systems and features we've added to the Battle Arena. This is particularly vital as we relaunch it in a new and refreshed form that is more engaging and satisfying to players"

New features have also been added with a positive response from the community. White added, "One of our favorite additions to the Battle Arena during this time is the new Support Machines (affectionately referred to as "mini-mechs"). These are miniature War Machines that players receive for free by completing daily challenges, which they can deploy into an ongoing battle. This way, players who don't have their own War Machines in a battle, can support their team and still directly interact with it. The response to these "mini-mechs" has been so positive that I'm already working on designs for future enhancements and customizations for players' Support Machines".

About Supremacy

Supremacy is a series of futuristic, war based economic simulation games set in the year 2149 that connects players into an immersive, interactive, and interconnected world where they can battle War Machines to win the in-game currency SUPS. Players currently can deploy their NFT backed mechs in a massively multiplayer online battle arena, streamed 24/7, with faction members assisting by spending tokens to provide air and field support. The Next major release will see players taking control of their mechs in a first person shooter game where they can pilot their mechs in the Battle Arena, earn tokens through victory, and get assistance from battle spectators.
