Madhouse Media Publishing launches BRAVERY KNOWS NO BOUNDS. The untold story of New Zealand Vietnam War ANZAC heroes.

Port Macquarie NSW: Madhouse Media Publishing is proud to release a heroic true story of ANZAC sacrifice from Norman Fry, Bravery Knows No Bounds, which is available in print and eBook from October 1st 2022.

Bravery Knows No Bounds is the true story of the heroism of four New Zealand soldiers during the Vietnam War.

In 1971, during 'Operation Hermit Park', four New Zealand servicemen demonstrated outstanding gallantry in rescuing wounded Australian servicemen while under heavy and intense enemy fire. In 2022, these selfless acts of bravery have still not been recognised by the New Zealand Government. The dramatic events are told for the first time by Lt Colonel (Rtd) Norman Fry, who has tenaciously pursued justice from the New Zealand Government for over 50 years.

"This book was written to ensure that the memory of the battlefield deeds of 1 Platoon, Victor 6 Company, 4RAR/NZ (ANZAC Battalion) are accurately preserved for the future. Hopefully, this story about 1 Platoon and those who served in it will also confirm that justice and fairness have not yet been fully achieved for these three men." - Norman Fry (Author)

Bravery Knows No Bounds confirms that justice and fairness has not yet been fully achieved for these three men.

"...This superbly written book "Bravery Knows No Bounds" should be compulsory reading in all secondary schools, not just because of the sacrifices of War and lessons learnt, but because these hard-fought conflicts with extreme hardship have defined this nation's character, proscribed our history and assured our future." - Hon. John Banks former Member of Parliament, Minister of the Crown and Mayor of Auckland

Bravery Knows No Bounds has been published with the support of the New Zealand Vietnam Veterans and Families Trust.

The book is available for order from all bookshops and can be purchased (print or e-book) here:
