Toby Mobbs will be on the road for another national tour this October to promote his second album 'In Between The Words'. What makes this tour unique is that he jumps in his car, drives 15,000km solo over 28 days and plays a show in every state and territory, no exceptions.

"If I call it a national tour, then I can't skip half the country. As an independent artist it isn't an easy undertaking, but once I set myself the goal, it needs to be completed"

– Toby Mobbs

This tour will feature local original support acts for each show, a keys player on select shows, and end with Toby being backed by a string quartet for his hometown show in Albury-Wodonga to close the journey. This kind of touring isn't new to Toby. In 2022 he made the same journey over the same 28 days to play a show in every Australian capital city. His 2024 national tour will see him break away from the capital cities and play to more regional areas.

This tour is to promote his latest album 'In Between The Words' which has been a two-year project in the making. As a solo act, Toby is limited to his guitar and his voice, but it's his recorded work that allows him to break out of the singer-songwriter style. Toby was able to bring some big names to this album including Donnie Borzestowski, drummer from Australian alternative rock band Gang of Youths.

"It's a surreal feeling having a musician you have respected for so long from a band you admire so much being a part of this album. It was a highlight of the entire project"

– Toby Mobbs
