

Australia's Top Foodie Suburbs Revealed in New Research from Morella Grove

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Australia, October 2024 — Morella Grove, a leading Australian producer of premium extra virgin olive oil and gourmet products, has unveiled exciting new research highlighting the top foodie suburbs across Australia's capital cities. This research, based on the number of top-rated restaurants (4.5 stars or higher), offers a fresh look at where culinary excellence is most celebrated across the country.

The comprehensive study identified the leading suburbs in cities such as Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, and Perth, uncovering the top dining destinations beyond the CBDs.

The findings have already garnered attention from TimeOut, 7News, and Nine Kitchen, showcasing the strength of Australia's food culture across our capital cities and their suburbs.

The research highlights:

- Melbourne CBD as the top city centre for highly rated dining, with 501 top-rated restaurants.
- Richmond (Melbourne) and Darlinghurst (Sydney) leading the way in suburbs outside the CBD, boasting the highest number of top rated restaurants.

Morella Grove's owner, Natasha DalBon commented, "This research shines a light on Australia's top capital city suburbs for highly rated dining. It's great to see the focus on quality across these standout locations, something we value deeply at Morella Grove."
